Wedding Celebrated Wednesday Evening at Home of Bride's Parents.

A wedding of much interest was that of Miss Mary Elizabeth Ingersoll and Lieut. James Allen Griffin, which was celebrated at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Ingersoll, Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. The ceremony was impressively performed by Bishop F. M. Bristol, of the Methodist church. Miss Blanche Bowers played the wedding music. The bride wore a blue tulle dress with white shoes. Her arm bouquet was of Kilmory roses and sweet peas. The living room where the ceremony was held was decorated in red and white gladioli. American flags gave a military color to the decorations.

The young bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Ingersoll, of McClellan avenue, and granddaughter of the late Col. J. W. Ingersoll, of Illinois. She is a graduate of the Chattanooga High school, and a member of the senior class of the University of Chattanooga. She is considered one of the most attractive girls among the college set.

Lieut. Griffin is with the first of the military training camp last August. He is a graduate of the 1917 class of the Cumberland Law school.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held at the home of the bride. Assisting Mrs. Ingersoll were: Mrs. Lawrence Rector, Miss Martha Green and Miss Virginia Brenner. Pink and white sweet peas were used in decorating the dining room and the same color note was carried out in the ice.

Among the military guests at the wedding were: Capt. and Mrs. Hubner, Lieut. and Mrs. Goree, Capt. Becker, Lieut. Lynch, Lieut. Rinker, Lieut. Gay, Lieut. Eckerly, Lieut. Shamrock, Lieut. Redd and Lieut. Tractor.

Plaids in Particular

(By Betty Brown.)

Something about summer encourages the popularity of plaids. In earliest youth we had plaid and checked gingham. When we put up our hair we affected plaid and checked organdies and volles for summer. Then the criss-cross patterns leaped to sport clothes, and this year run the whole gamut of feminine clothing from house dress to street suit. Here is sketched an unusual model of checked velour in blue and sand color. The velour in the sand shades and the banding and buttons show the blue satin and fringe. There is a shawl collar of batiste.

Soldiers of Camp Greenleaf will give an entertainment Saturday night at 8 o'clock in the gymnasium of the Lookout mountain branch of the Red Cross. The program will be given under the auspices of the Red Cross circle, with Mrs. J. T. Charlton in charge. A feature of the evening will be the playing of the jazz band. Soldiers of several units will participate.

BUSY DAY SPENT BY RED CROSS WORKERS

Fifty-six Ladies Sew at Home of Hon. and Mrs. Newell Sanders.

Fifty-six ladies were in attendance at Wednesday's meeting of the Lookout mountain branch of the Red Cross held during the entire day at the home of Hon. and Mrs. Newell Sander on Lookout mountain.

A picnic lunch was served at noon. There were made during the session, 1,000 first-aid trench packets, 110 bandages and two dozen hospital jackets.

WANTS TO DO HER BIT IN RED CROSS WORK

Mrs. R. Matilda Shepherd, a writer of prose and poetry, who has passed her seventy-seventh milestone, possesses a truly patriotic spirit, and is ambitious to do something for the Red Cross. She lives under the shadow of old Lookout mountain at the little village of St. Elmo, and made a visit to the workrooms of the Lookout mountain branch of the Red Cross Wednesday, of which she makes the following comment:

"I was in the Red Cross workroom on Lookout mountain Wednesday and was astonished to see the enthusiastic spirit with which forty or more women and girls were doing the work given them by their leader. It made me feel like a 'slacker,' though I knew I could do but little as I am 77 years old, yet my heart's desire is to lay hold and help the boys that are 'carrying on.' I can write and tell of the energy they are putting into their work, and if there is any way I can help I am willing to do my best."

Mrs. Shepherd was graduated from the Holston Baptist seminary, Jonesboro, and is intimately acquainted with the prominent college men and women of that section of East Tennessee. She has written a pamphlet entitled "Modern Christianity: Having the Form of Godliness Without the Power." She desires to get 1,000 copies printed, and proposes to give one-half of the proceeds of the sales to the Red Cross.

YOUNG MUSICIAN ATTRACTS WIDE-SPREAD ATTENTION

Unusual Singing and Playing of Miss Eleanor Potts, Delight on Many Programs.

The singing of Miss Eleanor Potts, one of the younger vocalists of the city, is attracting much attention among a large coterie of friends of the young musician. Miss Potts is a pupil of Prof. August Schmidt, and has appeared on many of his programs.

Her voice is a high soprano of much clarity and sweetness, of remarkable register and with the sympathetic quality which makes especially attractive her singing of such songs as "I Hear You Calling Me," "Some Where in France," "The Long, Long Trail," and others of especial interest during the present time.

For the past several weeks Miss Potts has appeared on programs at Fort Oglethorpe. In addition to concert recital, Miss Potts holds a position of soprano in the choir and through the past season was musical instructor of the Missionary Ridge school, holding her position under the auspices of the parent-teachers' association. Not only is she a singer rapidly forging to the front, but is an instrumental soloist as well, making extended study of Liszt, Chopin and other composers. She is the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Potts, of East Eighth street.

Mrs. J. B. Landerbach will not be at the St. Elmo school Friday afternoon, on account of the lecture of Dean Arnold at the First Baptist church.

Miss Guthrie will be in St. Elmo Monday afternoon to give a canning demonstration at the South St. Elmo school. She will can apples, beets and beans, using steam pressure canner, a new canner advocated by the government, requiring less time.

ATTRACTIVE PROGRAM PLEASES AUDIENCE

Many Departments Contribute to Cadek Recital—Miss Thompson Plays Tonight.

A large and appreciative audience attended the third of the Cadek conservatory closing recitals. The intermediate and preparatory grades of Prof. Cadek's violin classes were represented by Susan Loder, Morgan Ferrell, William Krug, Ethel Goldman, Bernhard Wassman, Stanley Harold. In Schumann's "Traumerei" and the contrasting "Perpetuum Mobile," by Rogers, Miss Annie Orgain had opportunity to display a well-modulated tone and technical dexterity, and Robert Perry gave a highly creditable performance of the old favorite, "Air Variations No. 5" by Dancie.

A high plane of excellence was attained by the piano pupils of Prof. Roy L. Smith, Misses Lora Woodworth and Lillian Cadek. Playing from memory, each one exhibited fluency and appreciation for the character of the various compositions. The following appeared on the program: Caroline Hartley, Norma Wanser, Edith Huns, Hilda Huns, Katharine Huns, Kathleen Lowry, Lucia Whitaker, Nannie True, Amilda Knox. Especial mention was made by Margaret Marshbank, Irene Peak, Corrie Reynolds and Helen Glass.

Three humorous readings were well delivered by Misses Frances Goldman, Minnie Johnson and Sarah Ballou, of Miss Gussie Blanton's depression class.

Mrs. H. A. Carlton, studying with Miss Eloise Baylor, sang two songs with good interpretation and diction.

Two ensemble numbers gave variety to the program, one a violin duet with piano accompaniment, the other a string quartet composed of Carlel Kreis, Stanley Harold, Herman Brenner, William Krug and Minnie Fine, which was a delightful rendition of a tuncful Gavotte by Scotten Clark.

Tonight Mrs. Joy Patton Thompson, studying with Prof. Roy L. Smith, will be presented in a piano recital, assisted by the string department.

Friday night, the final recital of advanced pupils will take place and medals for the best progress during the year will be presented. A social invitation is extended to the public.

Will Harris, of Tank Company, Proud of Way Americans Are Licking Huns.

Will Harris, a young Chattanoogaan, who, as a member of the local tank company, is doing his bit for world democracy, in a letter to homefolks, paid tribute to the great work the Y. M. C. A. is doing and said life in the open was a treat to him.

He urged that books and papers be sent to the Y. M. C. A. He said that when they arrived at Gettysburg, where they are now stationed, they were called "rookies" by the other two companies in their battalion, but that these companies had changed their minds since the "rookies" were told by the inspector that they were the best of them all. He referred to the fighting overseas, stating that "our men sure are making the Huns sit up and take notice." He voiced his desire of what he would like to do to the Huns.

"It is hard to be away from home," he said, "but it is for the best and it will make a different fellow out of me. I never had the chance to get out in the open much before and it is a treat to me."

Will Harris is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Harris, who reside east of Chattanooga. He was connected with the Southern Express company for seven years.

DO MOTHERS ERR?

When we hear of so many school-girls and young ladies and officers who are often totally unfit to perform their daily duties because of some derangement peculiar to their sex, might this not have been prevented by the mother who, perhaps through neglect or carelessness, failed to get for that daughter the one great root and herb remedy for such ailments, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? This old-fashioned medicine is said to have alleviated more suffering of womankind than any other remedy known to medicine. (Adv.)

ADVANCED RAILROAD RATES DON'T STOP TRAVEL

"The increased rates on the railroads have not affected travel at all," answered one of the men in the ticket office on Market street, on being asked if the new rates had decreased the selling of tickets. "The greatest trouble we are having now is with the new rates. They are not figured out, and it takes longer to do the work than formerly."

It seems that few people are traveling for pleasure nowadays and those who do travel will continue to do so in just as large numbers as before. An example to show the difference between the old and the new rates is the fare between Chattanooga and Cincinnati.

At the old rate the day coach was $3.50 plus a war tax of 65 cents, making a total of $4.15. If a berth was taken a charge of $2.20 was added. At the new rate the day coach is $10.20 plus a war tax of 52 cents, making $10.72 for the day coach. A sleeper is $11.90 plus 55 cents war tax plus $2.20 for berth, making a total of $14.65.
